The oceans, and the challenges they face, are so vast that it's easy to feel powerless to protect them. 50 Ways to Save the Ocean, written by veteran environmental journalist David Helvarg, focuses on practical, easily-implemented actions everyone can take to protect and conserve this vital resource. Well-researched, personal, and sometimes whimsical, the book addresses daily choices that affect the ocean's health: what fish should and should not be eaten; how and where to vacation; storm drains and driveway run-off; protecting local water tables; proper diving, surfing, and tide pool etiquette; and supporting local marine education. Helvarg also looks at what can be done to stir the waters of seemingly daunting issues such as toxic pollutant runoff; protecting wetlands and sanctuaries; keeping oil rigs off shore; saving reef environments; and replenishing fish reserves.

When we carry a dog to our family, we want them to modify their organic behavior to match our lifestyle. That is why we should be accountable for educating our canine friends what is predicted of them and what behavior is incorrect. The dog does not know that it should not pee on the rug, rest on the sofa or grab meals from your dish. Training is a very essential portion of any dog's lifestyle - it provides psychological activation which will help to keep your dog satisfied, it guarantees that you and your dog can co-exist harmoniously with each other and it can also be a lot of fun.

50 Ways To Die is a compendium of death and sometimes violent crimes occurring in the county, and the social trends that surround them. West's research centered on records of Coroner's Inquest and microfilm of the newspaper, Yorkville Enquirer, both of which are archived at the History Center in York. The inquests records had not been studied until West began his research which coincided with members of the staff and volunteers were indexing. A great deal of appreciation is extended to Archivist Nancy Sanbet, her staff and the several volunteers who assisted. And a special thank you to Miles Gardner who gave the idea for this book by his Murder and Mayhem in Old Kershaw. This book gives accounts of murders, suicides, accidental deaths and gruesome infanticides, ending in 1929. West has randomly extracted more than twenty murders, some of which are still retold in local kitchens and living rooms. The list includes the 1929 chilling murder of Faye Wilson King by her husband, Rafe. This murder brought national publicity to the small western York County town of Sharon. Also included is the 1922 murder of playing children by a man angry over water in Clover, and the brutal murder of Johnny Lee Good in 1888. People of York County have murdered over women, food, liquor, money, slander and unpaid bills and they did it with planks, bare hands, guns, knives and even ironing boards. Sometimes these occurred on the spur of the moment with overheated blood and sometimes with cold calculation. While most crimes were white on white or

And escape into a fantasy world of cross-dressing and theatricals at every other opportunity. Food has the power to temporarily alleviate stress and sadness, enhance joy, and bring us comfort when we need it most. It's no wonder experts estimate that 75 percent of overeating is triggered by our emotions, not physical hunger. The good news is you can instead soothe yourself through dozens of mindful activities that are healthy for both body and mind. Susan Albers, author of Eating Mindfully, now offers 50 Ways to Soothe Yourself Without Food, a collection of mindfulness skills and practices for relaxing the body in times of stress and ending your dependence on eating as a means of coping with difficult emotions. You'll not only discover easy ways to soothe urges to overeat, you'll also learn how to differentiate emotion-driven hunger from healthy hunger. Reach for this book instead of the refrigerator next time you feel the urge to snack-these alternatives are just as satisfying!

What can you do to help yourself (and others) feel happier?

This book is packed full of activities and ideas to try with family, friends and on your own. So, whether you feel happy right now and want to stay that way or you need some ideas to help you feel happier, this book is for you. It's a cheerful, fun, inspiring, and varied collection of projects for creative, happy and thinking individuals, containing a mixture of step-by-step projects and shorter activity ideas that encompass happiness-inspiring crafts, mindfulness, relaxation, and positivity techniques, and fun ways to get active and boost happiness outdoors. Read through the book from start to finish or dip in and out as the mood you. What's more, these activities are great to repeat time and again as a child builds their happiness skills and incorporates techniques into their daily life. For younger children, parents and carers may wish to work through the book with them, offering guidance and support, whereas more confident readers, 'tweens', and young teens will be able to enjoy engaging with the book independently. Each of the 50 activities relates to one of Action for Happiness's 10 key evidence-based ways to increase happiness and wellbeing: 1. Giving – doing things for others 2. Relating – connecting with people 3. Exercising – taking care of your body 4. Awareness – living life mindfully 5. Trying out – keep learning new things 6. Direction – have goals to look forward to 7. Resilience – find ways to bounce back 8. Emotions – look for what's good 9. Acceptance – be comfortable with who you are 10. Meaning – be part of something bigger 50 Ways to Grow Confidence is designed to be a manual for developing more selfconfidence. By becoming more centered in yourself you gain access to personal power. When we're able to turn down the volume on the "mind chatter," we become clear-headed and grounded. We are then better able to access problem solving skills, and are better equipped to be responsive rather than reactive in our lives. Why is this useful? It's useful because when our mind is clear, we think well, we feel better, and we function better. Our lives become less stressful, more focused, harmonious, and best of all, we can access our creative powers, which enable us to live our life purposefully. Do I say, "read this and you're problems melt away?" No, I say practice these steps, follow the suggestions, and I guarantee that your thoughts will shift, your feelings will shift, your actions will shift, and then your results will shift. In the end, ask yourself what might be possible in your life if you had more confidence than you have right now. Ask yourself what might be possible for the future of humanity if our children could grow up to be powerful, confident human beings, and then read this book. Ever say to yourself: "I wish I could do that;" "I wish I was like that person;" or "If only I could improve my life."? We all do that, not realizing we CAN do it.
