Greg, stuck indoors with his family over the holiday because of a blizzard, suffers from claustrophobia and worries they will not be able to weather the storm.

Thrill of the Hunt: A Collection of Suspenseful Tales Book 6 CABIN FEVER It strikes everyone at one time in their lives. You're cooped up, unable to go anywhere and with no control. These are the stories of what happens if... A Literary Escape: Mike Moreland was an innocent man who had been at the wrong place at the wrong time. Now he was stuck in an interrogation room at the police station. He could swear he had been through all of this before. As he comes to the realization that he is stuck in a "Groundhog Day" kind of loop he does everything he can to try to break the cycle. Anything to just get out of that room, it was driving him crazy being stuck in there for so long. Drive to the edge of sanity he makes a desperate break and manages to run out of the police station only to be hit by a bus. This then cuts to a librarian shelving a copy of a horror anthology book called "Cabin Fever" and not noticing the blood seeping out of the pages. The Blizzard: Nightmares-they get to all of us. But this one is a killer! A college student, home for winter break, gets snowed in with her family. She never told them anything about her recurring nightmare. This is one blizzard no one will ever forget... Snowbound: Mandy leaves an abusive boyfriend and goes to a mountain cabin by herself. Even though she knows the snow is coming she stays, telling herself it was the first time she had to rely on only herself. Her boyfriend swore she would pay for leaving him. Scared, she has to pull through or he will win, she does what she can to survive but as the weather worsens she hears him with every sound. She waits too long to get out of the cabin so it gets worse for her. The snow is past the windows, her family and friends have no idea where she is so nobody worries. As she lay dying her last thought was of her mother, so even though she could have used the last of her cell phone battery to call for help she texts her boyfriend. Death Shall Find You: A deserted house. A graveyard. A journal. Combined, they become the most harrowing summer of Ryland Liddell's life. Trapped in the woods with his alcoholic father, 15-year-old Ryland stumbles upon a cemetery, and boredom turns to dread as eerie encounters and unexplainable circumstances threaten his sanity and his life. The only clue-a journal penned by a disillusioned reverend-chronicles a deadly curse against his family. Will Ryland and his father escape their fate? Or will destiny prevail? Only time will tell....and many more tales of Cabin Fever

"If Tom Montgomery Fate has not found the secret formula for the deliberate, balanced life, he is a chief disciple of the search."—Chicago Tribune Try to imagine Thoreau married, with a job, three kids, and a minivan. This is the sensibility—serious yet irreverent—that suffuses Cabin Fever, as the author seeks to apply the hermit-philosopher's insights to a busy modern life. Tom Montgomery Fate lives in a Chicago suburb, where he is a husband, father, professor, and active member of his community. He also lives in a cabin built with the help of friends in the Michigan woods, where he walks by the river, chops wood, and reads Thoreau by candlelight. Fate seeks a more attentive, deliberate way of seeing the world and our place in it, not only in the woods but also in the context of our relationships and society. In his search for "a more deliberate life" amid a high-tech, material world, Fate invites readers into an interrogation of their own lives, and into a new kind of vision: the possibility of enough in a culture of more. Cabin fever occurs at sea, on land, in the air, in space. Principally, it occurs in our minds. This book examines 'cabin fever' in the wake of the coronavirus pandemic and the greatest confinement of people to their homes in history. It provides a timely account of the threat of cabin fever during lockdown.
