This classic text for MBA programs offers balanced coverage of concepts, methods, and uses of managerial accounting with an increasingly strong emphasis on strategic management issues. This approach helps to focus on concepts and managerial uses of financial information rather than techniques of cost accounting. The Seventh Edition emphasizes strategic management decisions, increased coverage of process improvement, integration of financial reporting issues for management decision making, and application of managerial accounting tools to emerging areas like e-commerce, service sector, government, and nonprofits in examples and problem material.

This book provides a comprehensive treatment of the new tools of public action and the implications they have for public management and policy design. An initial set of chapters describe the different tools and analyze their patterns of use, the management tasks they entail, and the situations for which they are most appropriate. Other chapters provide a general overview and examine the broader issues that this shift in the public-sector role from provider to enabler poses eg. redefinition of public management, the problem of ensuring accountability in third-party relationships, new public and nonprofit management skill requirements, international experience with alternative tools, and the implications of the shift in public-sector role for democratic governance. This volume is a valuable resource for anyone interested in how government functions today and how it seems likely to function in the future.

In an effort to generate funds for force modernization, the Air Force is looking toward the private sector to gain efficiencies and save money. To decide whether it can reduce costs by outsourcing an activity, the Air Force develops a bid for comparison to those of potential private- sector providers. Current policy for estimating the overhead component of its bid is to multiply the direct labor costs of the activity by 12 percent (.12). This policy is controversial because there is doubt as to its accuracy and because it has altered the outcome of a significant number of competitions. This research analyzed overhead rate behavior on a U.S. Air Force base (i.e., Travis AFB) to: (1) determine the accuracy of the 12 percent rule, (2) develop an automated procedure to estimate overhead savings that will result from outsourcing a commercial activity, and (3) identify policies that would increase overhead savings if a commercial activity is outsourced. A brief summary of some of the most significant findings and policy implications is below.
