This book explores how the design, construction, and use of robotics technology may affect today's legal systems and, more particularly, matters of responsibility and agency in criminal law, contractual obligations, and torts. By distinguishing between the behaviour of robots as tools of human interaction, and robots as proper agents in the legal arena, jurists will have to address a new generation of "hard cases." General disagreement may concern immunity in criminal law (e.g., the employment of robot soldiers in battle), personal accountability for certain robots in contracts (e.g., robo-traders), much as clauses of strict liability and negligence-based responsibility in extra-contractual obligations (e.g., service robots in tort law). Since robots are here to stay, the aim of the law should be to wisely govern our mutual relationships. Unit 1 of this casebook covers U.S. Contract Law. Students will learn how to form contracts, how contracts are performed, and how to remedy a breach of contract. Contracts are involved in almost every field of law, and paralegals are often involved in resolving contract disputes. From a dispute over a repair bill to a major commercial transaction, lawyers rely on paralegals to assist them in protecting the contractual interests of their clients. To be effective, a paralegal must understand the basic principles that apply in contract law. This casebook will also specifically benefit pre law students by helping them to learn the fundamental rules of U.S. Contract law. It will help them to become proficient at applying those rules to analyze disputes that arise in connection with the formation, expression, interpretation, and breach of contracts. Finally, pre law students will learn how to use contract law and analytic skills to spot and argue issues on 1L contract law exams. Unit 2 of this casebook covers U.S. Tort Law. Tort law is one of the most important bodies of law because it governs everyday human interaction, and it is one of the most important fields of paralegal employment. This unit provides students with a general understanding of the laws dealing with civil wrongs and remedies for wrongs, including intentional torts, negligence, strict liability, defamation, invasion of privacy and the factors that affect a plaintiff's right to sue a defendant. Because tort law arises from everyday life, it is one of the most interesting and relevant areas of law. At most American law schools students are required to take the same core 1L classes -Contract Law, Tort Law, Civil Procedure, Constitutional Law, Criminal Law, Property, and Legal Research & Writing. During 1L, law professors primarily teach using the case study method. But it is not until the very end of the semester that students begin to see how an area of law takes shape and how the rules they have learned during the semester interrelate. By studying contract and tort law before 1L, students are exposed to some of most important cases they will read during their first year, and they will have an early opportunity to brief pivotal case law and to practice legal analysis and

Law school book Excerpt from book: I could say: A contract is a legally enforceable agreement consisting of a valid offer and containing sufficient terms, made to an identifiable offeree and giving assurance that a valid acceptance will conclude the bargain. Or: A contract is an enforceable exchange of legal consideration by offer and acceptance in the absence of contract defenses. All of the above are correct.

negligence and malpractice Negligence is a failure to follow the degree of care that would be followed by a reasonably prudent person in order to avoid foreseeable harm. A person can be negligent if he or she acts with less care than a reasonable person would use under similar circumstances. Bob drove a car on a country road at 35 miles an hour. The maximum speed limit was 45 miles an hour. He struck and killed a cow that was crossing the road. The owner of the cow sued Bill for the value of the cow. Bill said that since he was not driving above the speed limit, there could be no liability for negligence. Was this defense valid? No. A person must at all times act in the manner in which a reasonable person would act under the circumstances. The fact that Bill was driving within the speed limit was only one of the circumstances to consider. The weather or the condition of the road may have made it unreasonable to drive at 35 miles an hour. Driving slower than the speed limit does not in and of itself prove that the driver was acting reasonably. The reasonable person standard varies in accordance with the situation. The degree of care required of a person is that which an ordinarily prudent person would exercise under similar circumstances. This does not necessarily mean a degree of care that would have prevented the harm from occurring. The elements required to establish negligence are: the presence of duty; a voluntary act or failure to act (an omission) that breaches the duty; proximate causation of harm; and damage (i.e., the breach of duty causes harm to the plaintiff). Torts involve duties created by law. Just because someone is hurt does not mean that someone else must pay for the harm. There must have been a duty which has been breached. A plaintiff will not be allowed to recover from a defendant if the defendant did not breach a duty that was owed to the plaintiff. For example, if a burglar breaks into my house and trips over an item of furniture, I am not liable to the burglar because I had no duty to him. However, if a guest in my house trips over a piece of furniture, I may have a duty to that guest. The breach of duty must result from a voluntary act or failure to act. In order for someone to be legally responsible for damage, it is necessary to show that the wrongful act was the proximate cause of the harm. The injury must be shown to be the natural and probable result or consequence of the alleged act of negligence. The plaintiff must prove that the defendant's negligence proximately caused the Plaintiff's injury. There may be more than one proximate cause of an accident. The final element of negligence is damages. A plaintiff may recover monetary damages to compensate the plaintiff for economic losses such as lost wages and medical expenses. A plaintiff may also recover non-economic losses such as for pain and suffering. The former are claimed on a normal accounting basis, and the latter are at the discretion of the judge. (7) Malpractice Malpractice is a failure by a physician or other professional to use the skill and care that other members of their profession would use under similar circumstances. When an accountant, doctor, attorney, or some other professional contracts to perform services, there is a duty to exercise skill and care as is common within the community for persons performing similar services. Failure to fulfil that duty is malpractice. (8) Nuisance Nuisance is a civil wrong, consisting of anything wrongfully done or permitted that interferes with or annoys others in the enjoyment of their legal rights. It is anything that annoys or disturbs the free use of one's property or that renders its ordinary use or physical occupation uncomfortable.
