The management and design of call centres is increasing in complexity due to advancing technology and rising customer expectations. This guide provides managers with an understanding of the role, value and practical deployment of simulation in the planning, management and analysis of call centres.

Social Customer Service is new. Social Media is the biggestthing happening to the customer service industry since the mid1960s when modern day call centres were born. It is takingcustomers and organisations into untested ways of relating:transparently, collaboratively, instantly. The consequences ofgreat and poor service are forever changed.

Customer appetite has promoted this form of interaction to thevery front of a race to understand. How do digital brands andempowered customers actually behave? Social Customer Service has become Marketing's R&D laband a listening hub for the rest of the organisation. It is nowhere corporate reputations are most likely to be won and lost.

The Pentagon is poised to begin development of a new generation of long range delivery systems. Such systems may be more dangerous than proposed improvements in nuclear warheads. At the same time, the gov;t. is considering options for replacement of the intercontinental ballistic missiles that are the core of the U.S. nuclear arsenal. New delivery systems for nuclear weapons would involve many of the same technologies, from more maneuverable re-entry vehicles to improvements in guidance systems, that would be developed for long-range missiles carrying non-nuclear payloads. These technologies could provide the building blocks for new nuclear capabilities.
