In Tune with Music

In Tune with Music Book 3 is a complete two-year senior secondary music course. It builds on knowledge already acquired and skills developed from Books 1 and 2. As in the previous texts, all areas a performance, composition/arranging, aural musicianship and knowledge about music a are all combined in a completely integrated approach. The text contains eight varied and interesting units that provide a balance between art music and popular music. These units incorporate many different musical styles, genres and media. The units are organised to develop practical, creative, aural and other music skills. Within each unit there are several study works that are both interesting and enjoyable, and which have been chosen not only to illustrate points of musical knowledge but also introduce the major composers in the classical and popular fields. They also provide students with a wide and useful repertoire of musical compositions. Related to the study works are songs, arrangements, transcriptions or orchestrations to sing and perform. In Tune with Music Book 3 will provide students with an understanding of music they will encounter in the years to come and build a firm foundation for further study.

This text presents a theoretical framework of elementary education learning patterns and the fundamentals of music. After covering these two topics, the remainder of the text develops musical skills while describing the ways music can be integrated into the classroom through the use of singing, making and playing musical instruments, listening, dancing, and other artistic media.

(Music Sales America). This recorder course by John Pitts is written for 7-11 year olds no previous knowledge of music or recorders is necessary. It is carefully graded with clear explanations at every stage, encouraging children to develop musical skills as well as recorder techniques. The teacher's books include simple piano accompaniments, guitar chord symbols and performance suggestions for classroom percussion. The tune books provide extra solo and duet material to supplement the instruction in each book ideal for children who need more practice and for fast learners who need extra material to hold their interest.

This updated edition includes new units, updated information, Internet sites and topical music. In Tune With Music Book 2 will develop and extend the listening, creative and performance skills that students have gained from the study of Book 1.

This book is not an encyclopaedia of the British musical in the twentieth century but an examination of its progress as it struggled to find an identity, stepping out of the shadow of its American counterpart. Illustrated with a wealth of contemporary photographs and memorabilia, it examines the contribution of key figures - from Ivor Novello to Lionel Bart - in Adrian Wright's lively and engaging prose.

This work focuses on the 'dark side' of popular music by examining the ways in which popular music has been deployed in association with violence, ranging from what appears to be an incidental relationship to one in which music is explicitly applied as an instrument of violence.

A collection of original songs, games, and activities designed to teach children to match pitches and sing in tune. A CD is included to initially present the songs to students.

Music's place in the National Curriculum in England and Wales is now firmly established. This book is a guide to help all primary teachers, and those with a co-ordinating role who support them, develop music in their classrooms. It looks at children's learning in music, in the context of current thinking on primary education and the developments of primary music since 1991. There are well-researched chapters on promoting children's musical composition and the ways in which music can be related to the whole primary curriculum. With a wealth of straightforward, practical ideas, a revised chapter on assessment and a new chapter on the role of the music co-ordinator, this new edition of Teachin Music in the Primary School will be indispensable reading for all primary teachers, primary music co-ordinators and those running music courses in teacher education at undergraduate, postgraduate or INSET levels. The editors are both at Bath Spa University College, where Joanna Glover is a Senior Lecturer in Music Education and Stephen Ward is Head of Department of Primary Education in the Faculty of Education and Human Sciences.
