Four stories by four new writers chronicle love, lust, rock and roll, football, and adult male-on-male fantasies. From New York Times and USA Today Bestselling authors Lorelei James, Lara Adrian, Christopher Rice, and Julie Kenner... Four Dark Tales. Four Sensual Stories. Four Page Turners. Roped In: A Blacktop Cowboys® Novella by Lorelei James: When World champion bulldogger Sutton Grant is sidelined by an injury, he needs help keeping his horse in competition shape. London is humiliated when her boyfriend dumps her for a rodeo queen. What's worse, she's forced to see the lovebirds on the rodeo circuit every weekend. In an attempt to save face, London agrees to assist the notoriously mild, but ruggedly handsome Sutton Grant with his horse training problem on one condition: Sutton has to pretend to be her new boyfriend. But make believe doesn't last long between the sassy cowgirl and the laid-back bulldogger. Tempted By Midnight: A Midnight Breed Novella by Lara Adrian: Lazaro Archer, one of the eldest, most powerful of the Breed, is sworn to his duty as the leader of the Order's command center in Italy. When a covert mission takes a deadly wrong turn, Lazaro finds himself in the unlikely role of hero with a familiar, intriguing beauty he should not desire, but cannot resist. Melena Walsh has never forgotten the dashing Breed male who saved her life as a child. But the chivalrous hero of her past is in hard contrast to the embittered, dangerous man on whom her safety now depends. And with an unwanted—yet undeniable—desire igniting between them, Melena fears that Lazaro's protection may come at the price of her heart.... The Flame: A Desire Exchange Novella by Christopher Rice: Cassidy Burke has the best of both worlds, a driven and successful husband and a wild, impulsive best friend. But after a decadent Mardi Gras party, Cassidy finds both men pulling away from her. Did the three of them awaken secret desires during a split-second of alcohol-fueled passion? Or is Mardi Gras a time when rules are meant to be broken without consequence? With the strike of a match and one tiny flame, she will call forth a supernatural being with the ultimate power—the power to unchain the heart, the power to remove the fear that stands between a person and their truest desires. Caress of Darkness: A Dark Pleasures Novella by Julie Kenner: From the first moment I saw him, I knew that Rainer Engel was like no other man. Dangerously sexy and darkly mysterious, he both enticed me and terrified me. I wanted to run—to fight against the heat that was building between us—but there was nowhere to go. I needed his help as much as I needed his touch. And so help me, I knew that I would do anything he asked in order to have both. But even as our passion burned hot, the secrets in Raine's past reached out to destroy us...and we would both have to make the greatest sacrifice to find a love that would last forever. Every Dark Nights tale is breathtakingly sexy and magically romantic.

During the Civil War, two young soldiers on opposite sides find themselves drawn together. One is a war-weary but scholarly Southerner who has seen too much bloodshed, especially the tortures inflicted upon the enemy by his vicious commanding officer,

A regional studies review.

A young student's excitement at being mentored by a famous bestselling author so turns to dread when he discovers that dreams really can come true.

In the newest edition of "Best Gay Stories," editor Berman has selected confessions and stories that range in scope from sensational to extra-liberating: a personal remembrance of the Stonewall Riots; a tale of awkward first love; the allure of Tadzio; and other explorations of the gay community's desires, heartaches, and wants.

These autobiographical essays offer insight into the passions of acclaimed author Mann--from his boyhood obsession with the gothic allure of "Dark Shadows," to the doubt and pain of being a Southerner at the edge of the gay community.

This book is a collection of essays by one hundred thirty-nine individuals on the benefits and drawbacks of same-sex marriage. Included are solitary individuals and couples.

Gay men and lesbians present humorous and hard-hitting accounts of the need to belong . . . somewhere Why would a lesbian raised in a Jewish home have a sudden desire to be a tough-talking Catholic girl? And why would a gay man travel to Ireland in a desperate attempt to escape his "hillbilly" roots? Identity Envy—Wanting to Be Who We're Not explores the connections gay men and lesbians have to religions, races, ethnicities, classes, families of origin, and genders not their own. This unique anthology takes both humorous and serious looks at the identities of others as queer writers explore their own identity envies in personal essays, memoirs, and other creative nonfiction. Gay men, lesbians, bisexuals, transgendered, intersex, and other sexual minorities often feel marginalized by mainstream culture and have a need to belong somewhere, to claim a group as their own. This surprising book presents stories of identity envy that are humorous and hard-hitting, poignant and provocative, written with energy, wit, and candor by many of your favorite writers—and some exciting newcomers. Identity Envy—Wanting to Be Who We're Not includes: Gerard Wozek's King Fu-infused "Chasing the Grasshopper" Max Pierce's fantasy of being a "Child Star" that helped him through a troubled family life Lori Horvitz's "Shiksa in my Living Room" D. Travers Scott's "EuroTex" Perry Brass's "A Serene Invisibility: Turning Myself into a Christian Girl" Jim Tushinski's ode to Lost in Space, "The Perfect Space Family" Al Cho's unlikely identification with Laura Ingalls Wilder characters, "Farmer Boy" Irish-American John Gilgun wishes he could be one of those "Italian-American Boys" Joan Annsfire rejects her Jewish heritage to become Catholic schoolgirl Corinne O'Donnell in "The Promise of Redemption" Andrew Ramer's "Tales of a Male Lesbian" city slicker Mike McGinty's life with the cattle folk, "You Picked a Fine Time to Leave Me, Helen" and much more! Identity Envy—Wanting to Be Who We're Not is a must-read for anyone who appreciates good writing—especially gay and lesbian readers who know what it's like to wish you were someone else.

A vampire sees the damage done to his adopted West Virginia home and vows that the mining company's efforts to destroy the land must stop. But the corporation is far more demonic--literally--than he ever imagined.

Barth's richest, most joyous novel yet describes a couple's journey on the Chesapeake Bay, a cruise that overflows with stories--of past lives and love, entanglements with the CIA and toxic waste, and inventive brushes with Don Quixote, Odysseus and Scheherazade.

The American Civil War still threatens to tear the nation in twain. Private Ian Campbell betrayed his company and his duty because he fell in love with a handsome Yankee prisoner-of-war, Drew Conrad. Both men are on the run, desperate to reach Campbell's family home in West Virginia, which may have escaped the conflict unscathed and may offer them both peace and salvation from the cruelties and hatreds heightened by the war.

Not every gay teen yearns for fashion and popular culture. Some boys are pure country folk and like the feel of flannel and the smell of the farm. And they're neither lithe nor muscle-bound but stocky boys, the ones who develop hairy chests, arms, and faces years earlier than their peers. One such seventeen-year-old is Travis Ferrell, shy among most of the other kids at school, but proud of his West Virginia roots. He has not yet admitted his passion for handsome guys--and his idea of what handsome is and what handsome does is not much different from him. Soon he'll learn that he's not unique; gay culture has a name for young men like him. Cubs. Lambda Literary Award-winning author Jeff Mann has written a touching romance for the outsider in us all.

There is nothing sexier than confidence and when it comes to love and passion, size doesn't matter. This anthology of nine stories ranges from sassy to sexy to sizzling, from contemporary to paranormal, and from new love to established relationships. What they all have in common is heroines who know they are more than the image they see in the mirror and who cannot be defined by the so-called rules of mainstream media. Here you'll find: A woman who's finally accepted herself and is not going to settle when it comes to her work or her love life. A wife who needs to seduce the husband who is afraid to love. A successful doctor facing down her high school bully and reconnecting with the man who loved her from affair. A midnight kiss that becomes more in the new year. A she-wolf discovering the vastness of her powers along with her soulmate. And more. These women are going for big dreams, facing important goals and changes, and living with a passion that leaves their lovers breathless and aching for more.

Winter is a favorite season for Bears, rough, gruff, hairy, and wonderful men who have the heft and fur to keep them warm despite the drop in temperature. "How does one define erotic and, more especially, erotic literature? (The origin of eroticism is the Greek erotikos, which means sexual rather than romantic love.) How has the erotic been depicted in classics of world literature? Who are the authors most associated with erotic preoccupations and themes? What are some of the terms and expressions connected with this literature?" "Erotic Literature: A Connoisseur's Guide sets out to answer these questions. In the process it covers both the "usual" and "unusual suspects." It is an essential source book and guide to erotic literature - the joyfully erotic, ancient and modern - as opposed to the merely pornographic." "The book is divided into three main sections. The first consists of six chapters on the subject: The Greeks and the Romans; The Far East and Middle East; Courtly Love and Medieval Forms of Love; The Era of Erotic Memoirs (the eighteenth century to our own time); Eroticism in code in all eras; and The Maze of Modern Erotica. Part 2 is an A-to-Z listing of erotic authors, with biographical and critical material on each one. The third part is a glossary of erotic terms." "This lively and informative book will answer many questions on the nature and unique place of erotica in literature, both in times past and today."--BOOK

Two vital obsessions - books and sex - are both powerful forces for fantasy, delusion, arousal and seduction. These short stories are of the moments when lit meets lust: a hack author falls for a fan; a young librarian loses his virginity; a student's crush on his pulp classics professor morphs into a classic pulp story. These fresh, witty tales of satyriasis and bibliophilism are just the ticket for every smoldering bookworm longing to have his specs - and pants - taken off by the right guy!

After missing her train, a beautiful lawyer seeks shelter in a dusty bookshop to escape a sudden rainstorm. Inside she finds a book that will reveal a world of black magic and demonic passion she never knew existed. She also discovers a deep, burning lust within herself that craves to be satisfied and conjures an incubus to fulfil her every greedy desire. But soon, the lawyer learns that, when dealing with a sensual creature of the night, the master can quickly become the slave. A Circler Omnibus In 1992 Circler Press began publishing erotic science fiction with thin chapbooks which soon became collectors items and are now out of print. This omnibus collects together the complete text of the chapbooks including author's introductions and prefaces and presents them with a new introduction by Cecilia Tan which traces the development of the genre. A must-have for any enthusiast.

On the Tongue is an earthy and provocative collection of poetry that weaves a pagan eroticism, at once tender, yet forceful and hard. An excerpt: The purpose of perfection?/To teach us longing./To make us monsters

Armed with a pack of the little blue pills and a bit of hope our Plain Jane is hoping to changing her life. Half Measures by Jeremy Edwards Stewart's Saturday night at home takes a pleasant, but unexpected turn when Millicent turns up at his door with no pants on. In The Liquor Store by Gwen Masters A fabulous old liquor store with a wine cellar and tall wooden shelves stocked with all manner of drinks. But it's the company of Daniel that's really intoxicating, not the alcohol on sale. Call Girl by Landon Dixon Welcome to the high pressure world of the call centre. Little cubicles full of stress and way too much work for way too little pay. Of course there are some perks to the job, and when sexy young Vicky starts on the night shift it's soon more than just the customers who are getting excellent hands-on service. A Rank Outsider by Phoebe Grafton Janet is used to being the pretty one and getting all the male attention. All that's about to change when a holiday cruise to the Aegean turns out to be a life changing experience for her not so attractive best friend A Sculptor's Touch by Roger Frank Selby Nude modelling wasn't new to Angela, but a blind artist was. She was nervous, but his sculptures really were wonderful and he promised her that in his hands she would be the most beautiful woman on the planet. Birthday Treat by Alex de Kok One of the perks of Harry's gardening job is getting to spend time with Janet, the gorgeous older woman who owns the house. He realises just how lucky he is when she invites him to celebrate his 19th birthday with dinner and a swim in her private pool. Backstory by Frances Jones Two reporters find that jousting for the best story is a real passion. The endless city hall meetings are always good for a hot lead, and things are even hotter behind closed doors where their passion makes the words come alive Brown Nosing by Richard Terry When the new boss invites you to dance at the office Christmas party, you'd be a fool to say no. Especially since she's hot, powerful and downright scary. Has she noticed the way you've been watching her? Perhaps tonight everything you've dreamed could come true, the only way to find out is to follow your nose and see where it takes you. Farmer's Daughter by Landon Dixon Its a hot and steamy summer when Allen is sent to the farm for a long day of sorting out the accounts. The job is made far more interesting by the farmers daughter who turns out to be hotter than the summer. First Time For Everything by Mary Borsellino They say that you always remember your first kiss, your first love and your first time. When they all coincide on the eve of a new millenium and with the boy you've been wanting for years that's definitely the case. High Heels And Monster Bikes by Kitti Bernetti We all have things that push our buttons, things that turn us on even when we're supposed to be working. For Matt it's shoes. He's been enjoying daydreaming his life away to the clicketty clack of high heels. When fate walks up to him wearing killer heel the only thing he can do is to put the dreams on the pillion and ride in to the sunset. Neighbourhood Watch by Stephen Albrow What was going on in that house across the street? Rachel had been watching the endless stream of men coming and going for days. Now it was time to find out what lay behind the closed door. Cherry Bottom by Shanna Germain Some lessons are best left to the experts to teach. Cate and Andrew definitely think so. Miss Suzanne's anal sex class soon helps them gain the confidence they were looking for. Afterdeath by Susan Placido They say that true love never dies, and they're right. Love didn't die, but Mike did. And yet, death is just a doorway, and sometimes you can open that door and bring those you love back to you, even if its only for a moment that feels like forever. Titus Loves Flowers by Jim Baker Letting the family take turns in deciding where you go on holiday can land you in some interesting places, like behind a horses butt in a cramped caravan. It's at times like these that you need a sense of humour and to remind yourself just why you got together in the first place. Working Conditions by Elizabeth Coldwell Some law firms can be a law unto themselves as Alison Mills is about to find out. Wallace and Barker is one of the old school firms, where the men are used to doing whatever they want. They don't hire many woman and if the rumours are true it's because of the harsh rules. It's an incredible opportunity though, and Miss Mills will do anything to be a part of that world.

"In actual fact, the only thing that matters in life is love, yet the inquisitive mind must be fed a few facts... Look at Baghdad!" commands Rosina-Fawzia al-Rawi's lively and imperious aunt Fatima, one of the characters in this delightful collection of personal essays. Aunt Fatima would have approved of this book, for as her niece turns her eye first on Baghdad and then all the lands of the Middle East, ending with her research into women's customs in the Emirates, she devotes herself as a lover does to all the intimate details around her. Whether she recounts a trip to buy a rug, a childhood incident on a Lebanese playground, or explicates Arab poetry, al-Rawi's collection is full of all that Aunt Fatima recommends—her beloved poetry, the ever-present history of these ancient lands, tender and intricate accounts of daily life, and quirky, nuanced tracings of the workings of the human heart.
