Interviews can be scary. Whether you're interviewing for a job, or an internship, or for admission to an academic program, you can be sure that one or more interviewers will throw dozens of questions at you. As you prepare to defend every fact in your resume / CV, it can be quite difficult to arm yourself with a good-to-great answer for every possible question. After you read this book, no professional interview will ever intimidate you again. The approach taken by this interview guide is unique. It ranks hundreds of interview questions by their importance in different types of interviews, and then breaks each down in a way that helps you see both sides of the picture. It covers almost every question that someone in Human Resources will ask you in an HR round. After reading this book, you will never be caught unprepared! The guide to answering each interview question starts with a helpful look into the mind of the interviewer. Whether you're trying to get into an Ivy League school, or interviewing for a temporary position for a week, the interviewer always has a motive behind asking each question. Once you understand the logic behind the question, you can give the best possible answer. Finally, the book provides you a structure or framework for the ideal answer to each question. You can use this template to arrange the facts relating to your professional profile in the best possible manner, and present your case to the interviewer in a way that is irresistible, and that helps you stand out in a crowded job market. Whether you think that you are overqualified or that you are at an initial disadvantage, this book will help you put your best foot forward, and to make the best possible impression on your interviewer. After mastering the techniques listed, you will be able to squeeze every possible drop of juice out of your skills, and impress even the most hardened interview panel. Common errors that are made by 90% of candidates in answering each question are also included; it is often as helpful to know what not to do as it is to know what you should say. The book is incredibly thorough: you will not find analysis at this level of detail on this topic anywhere else. These questions can also be used to prep for admission interviews at undergraduate and graduate programs in business - especially MBA interviews. All you need to get the most out of this book is some free time, an open mind, and the willingness to work hard. The world is going through tough times right now, but the best will always make it through. Your dream job just got real.

The answer is simple i.e. through a series of organized questions which are created after psychological and real life research and experience and trust me; no matter how good you are, if you are not prepared for each of these questions before meeting your recruiter, 95% chances are you won't be able to make it. Excerpt from The Admissions Interview: I can't remember anything on my resume. Oh my God, I've gone blank-what am I doing here? My pulse is racing, my throat is tight, and I'm sweating. Move out of my way, I have to get out of here! After 20 minutes, my nerves finally begin to calm (which would have been great if the interview hadn't finished in 10). The interviewer concludes with, "How do you want to be remembered by your classmates?" Remembered? Because this program will surely be the death of me? He hands me his card when we finish. "Call me if you have any questions." The interview is over. Over? I am numb as I leave his office, stunned that the moment I have worked a lifetime for is now history. Wait! When he said, "It's over," was he referring to the interview or to my future in business? The Blushing MBA is a funny, candid chronicle of one woman's adventure inside an Ivy League business school. It's an inspirational tribute to college, graduate school, and to anyone who has ever dared to enter the wild world of business.
