

Sailing San Francisco Bay 2016 Calendar

After finishing a circumnavigation over five years, Klaus and Maria Haeussler reentered the civil life with its struggle and routine. But they had underestimated the sustainable impact of the free life. And so it wasn't a surprise that they were on the way again after two years on land - this time without a solid schedule. They gave up their civil existence with all consequences. Over the course of 13 years from 1998 to 2011, they left 70,000 nautical miles in their wake and sailed in extreme regions from the Northern Atlantic to Cape Horn. During a one and a half times circumnavigation of the Pacific Ocean they came into contact with the different cultures of Patagonia (with an excursion to Antarctica), Polynesia, New Zealand and Australia, Micronesia, Japan, the Aleutians, Alaska and Hawaii. With a great love for detail, Klaus Haeussler portrays this adventure filled period of their lives. In 2010, in Cuxhaven, Germany, Klaus and Maria were awarded with the coveted Trans-Ocean Preis for this outstanding voyage. A story about making dreams come true. "To desire a thing, and to have it, are synonymous terms with the great people of the American Republic." In this SF novel, a sequel to From the Earth to the Moon, Verne's three travelers almost make it to the moon, flying around it in a homemade projectile. This book has been professionally formatted for e-readers and contains a bonus book club leadership guide and discussion questions. We hope you'll share this book with your friends, neighbors and colleagues and can't wait to hear what you have to say about it.

In January of 1848, James Marshall discovered gold at Sutter's Mill in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada. For a year afterward, news of this discovery spread outward from California and started a mass migration to the gold fields. Thousands of people from the East Coast aspiring to start new lives in California financed their journey West on the assumption that they would be able to find wealth. Some were successful, many were not, but they all permanently changed the face of the American West. In this text, Mark Eifler examines the experiences of the miners, demonstrates how the gold rush affected the United States, and traces the development of California and the American West in the second half of the nineteenth century. This migration dramatically shifted transportation systems in the US, led to a more powerful federal role in the West, and brought about mining regulation that lasted well into the twentieth century. Primary sources from the era and web materials help readers comprehend what it was like for these nineteenth-century Americans who gambled everything on the pursuit of gold.

California is the country's most populous state. The home of the entertainment industry and silicon valley. It's known for its beaches, its redwood forests, and as the "land of fruit and nuts." Its people, industries, politicians, climate, and allure captivates the world and draws millions of visitors each year. Exploring the state's fascinating history, people, myths, culture, and trivia, The Handy California Answer Book takes an in-depth look at this fascinating, quirky, and diverse state. Learn about the original Indigenous peoples, the Spanish explorers, the independence from Spain, the secession from Mexico, the Gold Rush, the building of the Los Angeles Aqueducts, the earthquakes, the water shortages, and much, much more. Tour landmarks, learn about famous sons and daughters, the sports teams, and the unique character of the state through a combination of facts, stats, and history, as well as the unusual and quirky. This comprehensive guide to California answers more than 1,100 intriguing questions, including How did "Eureka!" become the state motto? Why is a grizzly bear on the state flag when no grizzlies exist in California? Was the coast of California ever attacked by pirates? How did Silicon Valley become a center for the high tech industry?

Winner, 2016 the John Lyman Book Award, sponsored by the North American Society for Oceanic History. During Daniel O. Killman's more than fifty years at sea, he was shipwrecked off Coos Bay, discovered gold in Alaska, was dismasted in a hurricane near Fiji, lost a rudder en route to Adelaide, had run-ins with bureaucrats, officials, and seamen, and found himself in court facing charges of murder, all the while remaining in impeccable standing with the owners of his vessels. His thrilling life at sea during the last decades of sailing ships and the emergence of steam vessels in the Pacific is chronicled in Forty Years Master: A Life in Sail and Steam. Edited and annotated nearly forty years after Killman's death by prominent Pacific Coast maritime historians John Lyman and Harold D. Huycke Jr., Killman's memoir has been compiled by Rebecca Huycke Ellison from her father's papers. Now with an introduction by maritime scholar Brian J. Rouleau and an afterword by David Hull, Killman's rollicking narrative of storms, surly mates, bustling ports, and the business of navigating the high seas will entertain and inform scholars, students, and general readers interested in nautical and maritime history, late nineteenth–early twentieth century trade and commerce, and West Coast/trans-Pacific maritime history.

What if aliens really do want the best for us and our planet? Dr. Isaac St. Clair was a NASA mission specialist - until his program was defunded, that is, and he ended up a divorced, mediocre used car salesman estranged from his family. Mark Randall is a wildly successful San Francisco magnate with all the money in the world to spend but no passion to spend it on. When Mark, in a stroke of inspiration, publishes a national ad requesting the most outrageous, world-changing proposals, Isaac wastes no time in sending his in. Project Spacemine would extract enough resources from space to solve the socio-economic woes of the planet and protect the world from potentially disastrous impacts from space, and the Randall Corporation promptly directs Isaac's team to implement it. Isaac and Mark, along with the beautiful and savvy women in their lives, also come to lead secret lives of intense eroticism that push past the boundaries of what is socially acceptable. More and more trusted allies soon join their number. With some extraterrestrial intervention, they co-create a new way for humans to live together, with a sexual bond inoculating them against jealousy, conflict, strife, ego, and competition. Once you meet them, you won't forget The Team and their completely new approach to creating world peace, cooperation, and prosperity....

The second edition of "Indigenous Technology for Smarter Mankind" gives you full spectrum of various technologies which have been developed indigenously for creation of safe, secure and smarter mankind. The preface of the book is written by Shri Vishram Jamdar, Chairman GC of VNIT for first edition and by Prof. Prabhat Ranjan, VC of DYPIU for the second edition and Foreword for the book is written by Dr. VK Saraswat, member NITI Ayog. The book is a collection of my articles on MEMS technology, Environmental Technology, Space technology and Defence technology. The articles give in-depth knowledge about hi-tech weapon systems, India's missions such as Mangalyaan, Chandrayaan-2 in a very simple and lucid language. The articles on Navigation system, technical support from skies for warriors and ASAT interceptor are beautifully written making you feel proud of our scientists. There are lots of take-aways from this book for the youth who are studying Science, Engineering and are preparing for civil services exams as an addition to their GK; and is useful for teaching professionals to keep themselves updated with latest knowledge. Covering a decade on the inside of the games industry, SEX, DRUGS, AND CARTOON VIOLENCE lifts the curtain on the whirlwind of hype and promotion surrounding the launch of a multimillion dollar game. From all-expenses paid junkets, to multi-million dollar parties, to exclusive "previews", these are the stories you've never heard about the way video games are sold and reported. Written by a veteran games reporter and former television producer, this is the story of an accidental journey into -- and back out of -- one of the weirdest niches of journalism in the world. **Called "The Indiana Jones of games writing" by goodgameswriting.com, Russ Pitts has spent more than ten years traveling the world writing about video games. Pitts is the former editor-in-chief of the six-time Webby Award-winning website, The Escapist; the former features editor at Vox Media's premiere video game website, Polygon and the former head writer and producer of TechTV's "The Screen Savers." Pitts' video game industry reporting has been lauded as groundbreaking, innovative and some of the most thoughtful and intelligent writing about video games today. He has been nominated for multiple awards for his work covering the video game industry, and is the writer of hundreds of articles and long-form features, and the books "How Games are Made" and "Eagle Semen: The Story of TechTV Employee Number One". Pitts has been published in Polygon, Kotaku, IGN, GameSpot, US Gamer, PC Gamer, Joystiq, Digital Trends, and The Escapist. SEX, DRUGS, AND CARTOON VIOLENCE is his first time sharing behind-the-scenes stories from his career in reporting on video games.

Achieving College Dreams: How a University-Charter District Partnership Created an Early College High School tells the story of a remarkable 10-year collaboration between the University of California, Berkeley and Aspire Public Schools to develop and nurture the California College Preparatory Academy. Bridging the two cultures--artfully described as "Pac-Man (the charter district) meets chess (the university)"--the school serves as an exemplar in providing low-income and first-generation college youth with an excellent and equitable education. Framed by a longitudinal lens, findings from community-engaged scholarship, and a diversity of voices from students to superintendents, this book charts the journey from the initial decision to open a school to the high school graduation of its first two classes. The book captures struggle, improvement, and success as it takes readers inside the workings of the partnership, the development of the school, and the spillover of effects across district and university. Confronting the challenge of interweaving rigor and support, its authors explore such critical ingredients as teacher-student advisories; school transition; the home-school divide; building a supportive college-preparatory culture; teaching with depth, relational power, and equity; the forging of an academic identity; and scaling up. At a time of sharply unequal schools, glaring disparities in college readiness, and heightened expectations, Achieving College Dreams uniquely extends the knowledge base about how to better prepare underserved students for college eligibility and success. The book also calls for universities to step up to the plate as partners with districts to ensure both excellence and equity in secondary education for all children.

From the first human settlements to the latest marine explorations, The Golden Shore tells the tale of the history, culture, and changing nature of California's coasts and ocean. David Helvarg takes the reader on both a geographic and literary journey along the state's 1,100-mile Pacific coastline, from the Oregon border to the San Diego–Tijuana international border fence and out into its whale-, seal-, and shark-rich offshore seamounts, rock isles, and kelp forests. Part history, part travelogue, part love letter, The Golden Shore captures the spirit of the California coast and its mythic place in American culture.
