This book is designed for higher education instructors. The focus of the book is to assist all faculty instructors in higher education to better meet the needs of their student populations. It addresses the major issue of higher education teaching today: the need to reach all higher education students using active learning strategies. Higher education today is rapidly changing and faculty members are being presented with new types of students: ones who often have clear goals for bettering themselves, but at the same time lack what might have been considered to be basic skills necessary for success in a college or university setting. Instructors today must reach and bring all students into the college or university setting in an inclusive manner. The emphasis of this book is on student-focused strategies for teaching inclusively. This book will provide valuable strategies and practical techniques for instructors to develop inclusive college classrooms that promote the learning of all students. The audience targeted will be all instructors who work with higher education students, including students in community colleges and vocational institutions. The book is designed to be mainly practical instructional strategies with limited theoretical text and references. At the same time, major theories will be included to demonstrate why specific approaches are recommended. Although the authors and editors are from the field of education, the book is particularly valuable for all college instructors without a background in the discipline of education.

Self-improvement book for students Dr. M.N. Roy was the first surgeon to perform laparoscopic surgery in Bihar and is the author of several Medical books. This self-improvement book for students is the culmination of long hard research into the five factors which control our way of life and also steer us towards success if we exercise it in a disciplined fashion. Body (B), Mind (M), Emotions (E), Time (T) and Routine (R) make up this five-letter acronym BMETR. In the book, the doctor-author goes on to explain how each one of these elements, functions are connected. The Body holds the rest of the METR within itself and acts as a factory for all critical mechanisms. The Mind and the psyche activate our cognitive thinking, thereby, stimulating our Emotions by which we respond from time to time. Time, as we all know, is the only element that is beyond our control as we have to function according to it. However, what is in our control is the power to manage this time through Routine. Dr. Roy wishes to facilitate the youth in making rational decisions regarding their lives through this self-improvement books for young adults. He discusses in-depth about the discomforts and dilemmas that the young generation faces at the brink of their adolescence and also provide some easy solutions. He also discusses various techniques for students to excel in academics, such as SQ3R (Survey, Question and Read, Recite and Review), Mind Map and Flashcards which help young minds retain the vast and complex syllabus. The self-improvement book for students is an attempt to educate and make aware young minds, free them of their inhibitions and motivate them to reach their goals with a clear sense of direction and definition of life. Discipline, routine, pattern, time-management, concentration and meditation are some of the known yet underestimated virtues that Dr. Sinha has highlighted and emphasised in the book, to bring back our attention to these details we have unwittingly bypassed over the years. From a person who has shaped success for himself and others and has vast experience, the book is a treasure trove of knowledge, tips and tricks to master the art of life and achieve in the most systematic and certain way. How can parents motivate their children to study hard, without becoming “tiger parents”? How can students prepare well for exams? How can bullying be minimized? Why doesn't multitasking work? What are the ways to manage plagiarism, cheating, and other shortcuts to learning? Bestselling author Queena N. Lee-Chua addresses these questions and other topics chosen from her popular column "Eureka!" in the Learning section of the Philippine Daily Inquirer. Part of Anvil's Learning series, this volume includes more than thirty learning issues for parents, students, and teachers. All the talk of closing the achievement gap in schools obscures a more fundamental issue: do the grades we assign to students truly reflect the extent of their learning? In this lively and eye-opening book, educator Myron Dueck reveals how many of the assessment policies that teachers adopt can actually prove detrimental to student motivation and achievement and shows how we can tailor policies to address what really matters: student understanding of content. In sharing lessons, anecdotes, and cautionary tales from his own experiences revamping assessment procedures in the classroom, Dueck offers a variety of practical strategies for ensuring that grades measure what students know without punishing them for factors outside their control; critically examining the fairness and effectiveness of grading homework assignments; designing and distributing unit plans that make assessment criteria crystal-clear to students; creating a flexible and modular retesting system so that students can improve their scores on individual sections of important tests. Grading Smarter, Not Harder is brimming with reproducible forms, templates, and real-life examples of grading solutions developed to allow students every opportunity to demonstrate their learning. Written with abundant humor and heart, this book is a must-read for all teachers who want their grades to contribute to, rather than hinder, their students' success.

This step-by-step guide shows how, by following a few simple rules when selecting a topic, using library research, developing an outline, writing your first draft then final version, any student can improve both the structure and style of an essay or dissertation.
