hear the word “shame?” For many, shame is perhaps worse than any possible punishment. After all, we spend our lives building a career, a reputation, and a family, and one thing can take it all away: shame. The shamed people today are people just like you or me. They are people who made a joke on social media that came out badly or made a mistake at work. But once that transgression is revealed to the public, collective outrage overcomes the victim, and they find themselves at the center of an angry mob who will stop at nothing until justice is served. Today, the silent majority have been given a voice, but what are we doing with it? We are ruthlessly finding faults in people and using shame as a form of social control. As you read, you’ll learn how easy a small mistake can turn into a public shaming campaign, the damaging effects public shaming has on its victims, and how costly it is to salvage your reputation once it’s been marred. The must-read summary of Rob Adams' book: "If You Build It Will They Come? Three Steps to Test and Validate Any Market Opportunity". This complete summary of the ideas from Rob Adams' book "If You Build It Will They Come?" shows that successful entrepreneurs don't just plunge in without doing their research: before investing money they prove that a market exists, and that the market is commercially viable. This summary demonstrates that though this process is crucial, it need not be too difficult or time-consuming. A robust market validation process takes about 60-days and involves three steps: figure out whether or not your idea is worth pursuing by objectively evaluating your idea and the size of the potential market (2-3 days); reach out to your market and systematically gather data from multiple sources on what your future customers think of your idea (50 days); follow through and blast into the market by using the data you've gathered to launch, market and sell your product the smart way (7-8 days). He takes the reader through specific steps in the process, and the questions an entrepreneur should ask. Added-value of this summary: • Save time • Understand the key concepts • Increase your business knowledge To learn more, read "If You Build It Will They Come?" and discover a blueprint for savvy, common sense investment.

* Our summary is short, simple and pragmatic. It allows you to have the essential ideas of a big book in less than 30 minutes. As you read this summary, you will discover that you live in an imperfect community, but that you can always do something to make it better. You will also learn that : you cannot live without others; human relationships are naturally chaotic; you will only build real relationships if you remain authentic; there are many ways to improve your interpersonal relationships; others are there to help you. Of all the relationships you have with others on a daily basis, the proportion of people you really know is very small. As a result, you are often confronted with conflict, mistrust and slander. You may find it difficult to fully appreciate others because you perceive only a small part of who they really are. There is nothing satisfying about living in a community. What you need is to get closer to others, but you just don't know how to do it. So how do you live together so that no one feels alone anymore? *Buy now the summary of this book for the modest price of a cup of coffee!

Modern society offers many opportunities and possibilities, but most people live a life that is not very fulfilling and do a job they don't like. One of the main reasons is that finding your passion is not as easy as it seems. Indeed, being passionate isn't just about loving something, it's about living an intense and satisfying life. SUMMARY - Why You're Stuck: Your Guide To Finding Freedom From Any Of Life's Challenges By Derek Doepker

The must-read summary of Paul and Sarah Edwards and Laura C. Douglas' book: "Getting Business to Come to You: Everything You Need to Do Your Own Advertising & Sales Promotions". This complete summary of the ideas from Paul and Sarah Edwards and Laura C. Douglas' book "Getting Business To Come To You" shows that the only truly essential element for a successful business is having enough people to buy your product or service week after week. In other words, marketing is the life blood of any business. Marketing does not necessarily require you to be on the road. The authors suggest that there are effective ways of maintaining a business profile, so that people come to do business with you of their own accord. This requires an effective, high profile strategy that any business can develop for themselves if they use the right techniques. There's no single magic strategy that works for every business. Marketing will always be an ongoing, experimental process that in the final analysis must stand or fall on its own merits. The key is not to rely on any one method exclusively, but to have a wide range of marketing activities underway all the time. Added-value of this summary: • Save time • Understand the key concepts • Increase your business knowledge To learn more, read "Getting Business To Come To You" and discover how to grow your business.

Female sexuality is marred by a lot of preconceived ideas. It has long been studied, wrongly, in comparison with male sexuality. However, it is neither more complex nor more psychological than that of men, because each person is different without being abnormal. How to explain miraculous healings? How to explain that in the absence of any active medication,

How did Joe Dispenza himself, after fracturing several vertebrae in a car accident, he was able to heal and walk again without major surgery or implants, despite the advice of specialists? These are the limits of science and medicine, on the edge of a lesser-known but equally exciting field: that of the power of the mind. Certainly, the theories presented here may seem avant-garde, far-fetched, astonishing, and perhaps even criticizable from a medical point of view. The fact remains that medicine recognizes the power of the placebo, and in doing so, it also recognizes those it has not yet mastered. Siri's founders use their experience to explain not how to create a company, but how to create a large company that disrupts the market, changes it profoundly and imposes itself on it for the long term. They take a firm stand against the culture of failure, which is highly developed in startups through the pivot technique. This consists of developing a minimum viable product, then testing different hypotheses in order to refine it through successive failures and trial and error. It can only work for companies that require little capital. For large, capital-intensive companies, repeated failure can be fatal.
