An investigation has been conducted to determine the effects of decomposition-chamber size and catalyst-bed-material arrangement on the thrust buildup and decay time for a 90 percent hydrogen peroxide control rocket. The rocket produced about 35 pounds of static thrust at a chamber pressure of 300 pounds per square inch. Catalyst-bed loading ranged up to about 0.50 pound of propellant per second per square inch of bed. Five configurations, including two decomposition-chamber lengths and various arrangements of the catalytic material, were tested on a static test stand at various chamber pressures and rocket-case temperatures. Chamber-pressure-buildup time was mainly dependent upon rocket-case temperature, being long at low temperatures and decreasing to about 0.05 second for rocket-case temperatures equal to or greater than 1,000 F. Variations in decomposition-chamber arrangement and steady-state chamber pressure produced little difference in the starting-time delay. Chamber-pressure-decay time to 10 percent of steady-state chamber pressure varied from about 0.06 to 0.11 second and the chamber pressure decayed completely in 0.08 to 0.20 second at all test conditions.

Reimagines the cycles of the moon as a mother bakes a Big Moon Cookie and, despite Mama's request to wait, Little Star begins nibbling at it every night. First of all, this is for all ages. This is an open book to families as well as to children. Open in the sense of this is the way I speak to my own family. All ages, creed, color, beliefs, backgrounds or genders. It is my hope to get more children to read. Yet, it is also my hope to get more families to read together "as a family", in like manner to began to eat together and have discussions "as a family". The family circle is dying and unless there is intentional action to repair it, it will die. This book is to promote the family unit, as a unit and hopefully correct dysfunction. Naturally ... this is not the only source nor the only key; yet, it serves as an aid. If you have feedback: Post Office Box 15183;San Francisco, Ca. 94115
