

Yasmin How You Know Orked Binti Ahmad

Raw, flowing scenes and palpable tension designed to warm you to your core. The Magnetic Moments Prelude is the beginning of a journey. Tight, highly crafted, with engaging scenes and situations designed to have you turning pages, this collection is a must read! Six Scenarios: Movie & Chill - Sophia and Sonny have been friends with benefits for a while. She invites him over to hang out, but Sonny is determined not to make it to the end of the film . . . Alison's Dance - Alison likes Lucas. Lucas doesn't know what he wants, but they remain friends. After a date with another woman goes awry, he ends up going to see Alison, and they have the conversation they've always avoided, with explosive results. Stress Relief - Michael has had a hard day at work. Sarah's had a naughty time at the gym, and she's worked up enough to give Michael the TLC that he needs. Pleasant Surprises - Kelly and Yasmin have been friends and roommates for years, both desiring the same man. When the three of them are at a party, drunk, chaos ensues . . . Chasing Destiny - Simeon loves his girlfriend Kalisha, but she works hard, and loves her career just as much as she loves him. When Simeon runs into her younger sister Destiny in a club, he does the right thing and accompanies her home. Destiny's intentions however, are less pure . . . Date Night - It's 1999. Lamont Jones is introduced to Josette. She's feisty and he digs her attitude, but she has a boyfriend and doesn't seem to appreciate Lamont's cocky attitude. Despite their best efforts, they struggle to keep away from one another, and passion ensues. Click now, and immerse yourself in a world of desire. - - - - -
- - - - - See what other readers think: Vivid and to the point without being crude. Definitely recommend for those who enjoy erotic short stories. This was great. I enjoyed these quick short stories. Not being drawn out was a plus. Innovative piece of erotic literature. Alluring characters, sizzling scenes with an excellent flow from beginning to end.

This book explores race and multiculturalism in Malaysia and Singapore from a range of different disciplinary perspectives, showing how race and multiculturalism are represented, how multiculturalism works out in practice, and how attitudes towards race and multiculturalism – and multicultural practices – have developed over time. Going beyond existing studies – which concentrate on the politics and public aspects of multiculturalism – this book burrows deeper into the cultural underpinnings of multicultural politics, relating the subject to the theoretical angles of cultural studies and post-colonial theory; and discussing a range of empirical examples (drawn from extensive original research, covering diverse practices such as films, weblogs, music subcultures, art, policy discourse, textbooks, novels, poetry) which demonstrate overall how the identity politics of race and intercultural interaction are being shaped today. It concentrates on two key Asian countries particularly noted for their relatively successful record in managing ethnic differences, at a time when many fast-developing Asian countries increasingly have to come to terms with cultural pluralism and migrant diversity.

Learn about the archangels who work with your birth chart in Doreen Virtue's Angel Astrology 101. Co-authored by the widely published astrologist and Angel Therapist Yasmin Boland, this is the first book to combine angelology and astrology. The 12 beautifully illustrated and easy-to-understand chapters describe the personality characteristics of each of the Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, and Rising (Ascendant) signs, as well as which archangels to call upon in association with them. Angel Astrology 101 is perfect for anyone who is new to these subjects—but it also offers plenty of fresh insights and material for those who have long worked with either astrology or the angels.

The rise of independent cinema in Southeast Asia, following the emergence of a new generation of filmmakers there, is among the most significant recent developments in global cinema. The advent of affordable and easy access to digital technology has empowered startling new voices from a part of the world rarely heard or seen in international film circles. The appearance of fresh, sharply alternative, and often very personal voices has had a tremendous impact on local film production. This book documents these developments as a genuine outcome of the democratization and liberalization of film production. Contributions from respected scholars, interviews with filmmakers, personal accounts and primary sources by important directors and screenwriters collectively provide readers with a lively account of dynamic film developments in Southeast Asia. Interviewees include Lav Diaz, Amir Muhammad, Apichatpong Weerasethakul, Eric Khoo, Nia Dinata and others. Tilman Baumgärtel taught film and media studies in Germany, Austria and the Philippines before joining Royal University of Phnom Penh in 2009. He has curated international film series and art exhibitions, and has also published books on independent cinema, Internet art, computer games and the German director Harun Farocki. His blog can be found at <http://southeastasiancinema.wordpress.com>

"Do you know who that is, Poppy?" asked Delilah. "I do indeed." "So what does it feel like to dance in the arms of an assassin?" Poppy Denby's star is on the rise. Now the Arts and Entertainment Editor at The Daily Globe, she covers an exhibition of Russian Art at the Crystal Palace. A shot rings out, leaving a guard injured and an empty pedestal in the place of the largest Fabergé Egg in the collection. The egg itself is valuable, but more so are the secrets it contains within - secrets that could threaten major political powers. Suspects are aplenty and Poppy is delighted to be once again in the middle of a sensational story. But, soon the investigation takes a dark turn when someone connected with the exhibition is murdered and an employee of the newspaper becomes a suspect. The race is on to find the egg before the killer strikes again...

At 23, Asif is less than he wanted to be. His mother's sudden death forced him back home to look after his youngest sister, Yasmin, and he leads a frustrating life, ruled by her exacting need for routine. Everyone tells Asif that he's a good boy, but he isn't so sure. Lila has escaped from home, abandoning Asif to be the sole carer of their difficult sister. Damaged by a childhood of uneven treatment, as Yasmin's needs always came first, she leads a wayward existence, drifting between jobs and men, obsessed with her looks and certain that her value is only skin deep. And then there is Yasmin, who has no idea of the resentment she has caused. Who sees music in colour and remembers so much that sometimes her head hurts. Who doesn't feel happy, but who knows that she is special. Who has a devastating plan. The Way Things Look to Me is an affecting, comically tender portrayal of a family in crisis, caught between duty and love in a tangled relationship both bitter and bittersweet.

'With the intimacy of a person who has lived the tragedy himself but with the restraint of a true artist, Hamid Sulaiman tells a powerful tale of Syria's descent into cataclysm while reminding us of those still tending the seeds of the revolutionary spring.' Joe Sacco Winner of the 2017 PEN Translates Award Winner of the 2017 Burgess Grant It is spring 2012 and 40,000 people have died since the start of the Syrian Arab Spring. In the wake of this, Yasmin has set up a clandestine hospital in the north of the country. The town that she lives in is controlled by Assad's brutal regime, but is relatively stable. However, as the months pass, the situation becomes increasingly complex and violent. Told in stark, beautiful black-and-white imagery, Freedom Hospital illuminates a complicated situation with gut-wrenching detail and very dark humour. The story of Syria is one of the most devastating narratives of our age and Freedom Hospital is an important and timely book from a new international talent.

This is at present a four book series Each book is written by a different character in the story except Book 2 and 3 are by Adam. The story is about the very wealthy "master" who owns Steppingley Manor and uses it for BDSM events and training's. Think "Eyes wide shut" the movie for a backdrop of the mansion and what goes on. Alice, Tom and Kate are a family but Tom is a sub Cuck and Alice his wife is the head Dominatrix, Kate is the daughter also a Dominatrix. The master sleeps with both of them. Charlie, Adam and his girlfriend Alison, Gin and Jeff are all involved in the London Fetish club scene and either get invited or work at the events held at Steppingley Manor. Johnson s the chauffeur and helicopter pilot and moves down to the Motor Yacht where the Master spends most of his time. Yasmin is Indian and married to Rahul who the Master is obsessed with and gets her to come and work for him on the Residential Cruise ship running his exclusive club ATP "Addicted to Pleasure"CAST - Steppingley ManorThe Master - Owns Steppingley Manor, yacht, helicopter and the ATP club on the cruise shipAlice - Toms wife and head DominatrixKate - Alice and Toms daughter DominatrixTom - Cuckold friend of the Master and Alice's husbandJeff and Gin - Korean girl and husband from London clubCharlie - Black guy from clubs who introduces Adam to the EventsAdam - Gets the job as new ChauffeurAlison - Adams girlfriend who also worked with CharlieJohnson - Old Chauffeur and Helicopter PilotYasmin - New Indian girl Dominatrix and manager on the Cruise ship Excerpt.... Book 1My name is not important however, a bit of background information would be helpful before I get into the story and tell you how it all began. I'm in my early 50's and live the good life since selling my engineering company some years ago for a very handsome sum so I don't need to work anymore and have several properties among-st other things... Excerpt... Book 1 Steppingley Manor is now my main UK residence and favorite countryside location as it's in a nice little English village not too far from London and Heathrow International airport. I do love my cars and have quite a nice collection, all in Ice white, in the big barn on the estate, a helicopter and my 67 meter Lurrsen motor yacht moored down in the Mediterranean with a helipad and full time crew. The pilot and copter is kept at the manor unless I'm down on the yacht which is quite often as I do love the ocean and the nautical lifestyle in general.The live in servants include the pilot, my driver and groundsman Tom with his wife April who looks after the housekeeping with 3 maids. I've known Tom and April for many years as Tom and I worked together when we were in our late teens and we stayed friends even after I started my engineering company and subsequently became quite successful.Tom is a Sub Cuckold and although he's married to April, she sleeps with me whenever I call her to my room. April is also a well trained Dominatrix and enjoys training Cuck's or their Sub / Dom wives in the play room and dungeon.The basement area of Steppingley manor is huge and private and we have some pretty wild parties and training sessions down there. There's even a real dungeon with wall shackles and solid iron bars and a cage that have subsequently been kitted out with all the typical BDSM racks and play equipment including whips, insertions, clamps and stocks. The 2 doberman guard dogs and 5 horses are looked after by Kate, Tom and April's daughter. Kate is 19, 5ft 10 inches in height, a real beauty to say the least. Long black hair to her waist but kept tied back when working. Pert little breasts with long legs and a slim body. She has the face of an angel and actively involved with her mum April as a trainee dominatrix. Sometimes I have training sessions with April and Kate together while Tom stays alone in his little bungalow and I let him watch us on the CCTV..... “[A] perfectly orchestrated girl-who-cried-wolf thriller.”—The New York Times Book Review A dark, utterly compulsive novel about what happens when the warped imagination of a teenage girl turns into reality... When fifteen-year-old Yasmin—obese, obsessive and deemed a freak by her peers—sees a sinister man watching Alice Taylor from the school fence, she becomes convinced he’s planning to take her. After all, who wouldn’t want the popular and perfect Alice? Then Yasmin realizes if she can find out who he is before he acts, she’ll be the only one who can tell the police, save Alice and become Alice’s heroine. But as Yasmin discovers more about this man, her affections begin to shift. Perhaps she was wrong about him. Perhaps she doesn’t need Alice after all... And then Alice vanishes.

Reminiscent of the early work of Jhumpa Lahiri, Ayelet Tsabari’s award-winning debut collection of stories is global in scope yet intimate in feel, beautifully written, and emotionally powerful. From Israel to India to Canada, Tsabari’s indelible characters grapple with love, violence, faith, the slipperiness of identity, and the challenges of balancing old traditions with modern times. These eleven spellbinding stories often focus on Israel’s Mizrahi Jews, featuring mothers and children, soldiers and bohemians, lovers and best friends, all searching for their place in the world. In “Tikkun,” a man crosses paths with his free-spirited ex-girlfriend—now a married Orthodox Jew—and minutes later barely escapes tragedy. In “Brit Milah,” a mother travels from Israel to visit her daughter in Canada and is stunned by her grandson’s upbringing. A young medic in the Israeli army bends the rules to potentially dangerous consequence in “Casualties.” After her mom passes away, a teenage girl comes to live with her aunt outside Tel Aviv and has her first experience with unrequited love in “Say It Again, Say Something Else.” And in the moving title story, two estranged sisters—one whose marriage is ending, the other whose relationship is just beginning—try to recapture the close bond they had as kids. Absorbing, tender, and sharply observed, The Best Place on Earth infuses moments of sorrow with small moments of grace: a boy composes poetry in a bomb shelter, an old photo helps a girl make sense of her mother’s rootless past. Tsabari’s voice is gentle yet wise, illuminating the burdens of history, the strength of the heart, and our universal desire to belong. Praise for The Best Place on Earth “It’s impossible not to be awestruck by the depth and power rendered in Tsabari’s stories.”—Elle “Tsabari creates complex, conflicted, prickly people you’ll want to get to know better.”—Kirkus

Reviews (starred review) “There’s remarkable scope in Ayelet Tsabari’s The Best Place on Earth, which interweaves stories of discrimination, loss, displacement, sex, death, religion, and a host of other issues. And yet, despite the range of viewpoints and the different facets of Israeli society explored, this is a collection that always stays intensely personal, the broader forces of history moving not merely across nations but within the souls of her beautifully conceived characters.”—Phil Klay, National Book Award–winning author of Redeployment “With incredible compassion and a delicate touch, Ayelet Tsabari explores the heartbreak inherent in forming bonds, whether with another person or with a whole country. The Best Place on Earth, a complicated love song to Israel, is a sure-footed and stunningly skillful debut.”—Shelly Oria, author of New York 1, Tel Aviv 0 “Powerful . . . brilliant . . . These stories . . . depict minorities so skillfully, with such a light and accurate touch.”—The Daily Beast “Highly recommended . . . Compelling and compassionate; [Tsabari’s stories] speak out from the heart of Israeli society and experiences. . . . The stories of The Best Place on Earth leave you wishing they wouldn’t end.”—The Times of Israel “This short story collection is a fiction debut for Tsabari, but it demonstrates that she is already a talented storyteller. . . . Her writing has an immediacy and power that invites readers into her characters’ psyches.”—Publishers Weekly

The Gardeneers welcome three new additions to their garden: chickens! Chloe enjoys bringing in treats for them but Will wonders why the aren't laying any eggs for his breakfast. Will the chickens ever start laying? And will they ever stop leaving poos at Yasmin's feet? Also - where can you find sabre-tooth tiger meat The kids at Mulberry Street find some answers at the library - but you can just open up this book and... Find out all the answers in "The Mini T-Rexes!"

From the critically acclaimed Malaysian film Sepet to the on-going box office successes of the films created by Hong Kong director Wong Kar Wai, cinematic texts from the nations of Asia are increasingly capturing audiences beyond their national boundaries. Tradition, Culture and Aesthetics in Contemporary Asian Cinema explores the rise of popular Asian cinema and provides an understanding of the aesthetic elements that mark these films as 'Asian cinema'. Incorporating examples of contemporary films from China, Japan, Hong Kong, Korea, Singapore, Malaysia and India, Peter C. Pugsley gives readers a fresh insight into the rapidly developing discourse on popular Asian media. The book's chapters focus on the aesthetic features of national cinemas and the intersections of local/global encountered in the production, distribution and consumption of contemporary Asian films. By tracking across some of the most influential countries in Asia the book is able to offer new perspectives into the visual and aural features that create greater understanding between East and West. As distribution and technological advances make Asian films more readily available, an understanding of the different aesthetics at play will enable readers of this book to recognise key cultural motifs found in cinematic texts from Asia.

There's drama on the playground when Chloe is forced to choose sides between Yasmin and Will - who are arguing over who forgot to water the cucumbers. Myrtle ends up teaching Chloe some self-regulation skills, teaching Mr Barbossa to trust his students and talking to a few vegetables along the way. Wait, talking to veggies? Has Myrtle gone mad? Do some vegetables have ears? And what happens when you plant a push pin? Find out all the answers in "The Pinwheel Plot!"

Singapore and Malaysia are rapidly modernising, globalising Asian states which, although being distinct nations since 1965, share common elements in the on-going struggle over the meaning of gender and sexuality in their societies. This is the first book to discuss a range of discourses around gender in these two countries. Women and the Politics of Representation in Southeast Asia: Engendering Discourse in Singapore and Malaysia seeks to give an overview of how gender and representation come together in various configurations in the history and contemporary culture of both nations. It examines the discursive construction of gender, sexuality and representation in a variety of areas, including the politics of everyday life, education, popular culture, literature, film, theatre and photography. Chapters examine a range of tropes such as the Orientalist "Sarong Party Girl," the iconic "Singapore Girl" of Singapore Airlines, and the figure of pious Muslim femininity celebrated by Malaysian NGO IMAN, all of which play important roles in delineating limitations for gender roles. The collection also draws attention to resistance to these gender boundaries in theatre, film, blogs and social media, and pedagogy. Bringing together research from a variety of humanistic and social science fields, such as film, material culture, semiotics, literature and pedagogy, the book is a comprehensive feminist survey that will be of use for students and scholars of Women's Studies and Asian Studies, as well as on courses on gender, media and popular culture in Asia.

Have you ever thought of singleness as a gift? Many people see their time being single as a phase they want to leave as quickly as possible, but God has a purpose for every season. When the King gives you a gift, treasure it. Your gift of singleness can evolve you to a place where you will be able to reach your relational dreams.

The Sinophone framework emphasises the diversity of Chinese-speaking communities and cultures, and seeks to move beyond a binary model of China and the West. Indeed, this strikingly resembles attempts within the queer studies movement to challenge the dimorphisms of sex and gender. Bringing together two areas of study that tend to be marginalised within their home disciplines Queer Sinophone Cultures innovatively advances both Sinophone studies and queer studies. It not only examines film and literature from Mainland China but expands its scope to encompass the underrepresented 'Sinophone' world at large (in this case Taiwan, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Singapore, and beyond). Further, where queer studies in the U.S., Europe, and Australia often ignore non-Western cultural phenomena, this book focuses squarely on Sinophone queerness, providing fresh critical analyses of a range of topics from works by the famous director Tsai Ming-Liang to the history of same-sex soft-core pornography made by the renowned Shaw Brothers Studios. By instigating a dialogue between Sinophone studies and queer studies, this book will have broad appeal to students and scholars of modern and contemporary China studies, particularly to those interested in film, literature, media, and performance. It will also be of great interest to those interested in queer studies more broadly.

It's a scorching hot day and the Gardeneers are trying to keep from melting - and keep their greens from drying up. Myrtle has some ideas, but to Yasmin's dismay it means including Chloe's little brother Ashton and other kindy kids in the garden. Will Yasmin and Ashton learn to work together? Or will their friendship go up in flames? Perhaps a frozen treat and an unexpected common interest will solidify their friendship Find out all the answers in "The Berry Bunch!"

'Somebody!' I half-sob and then, more quietly, 'Please.' The words seem absorbed by the afternoon heat, lost amongst the trees. In their aftermath, the silence descends again. I know then that I'm not going anywhere... Sean is on the run. We don't know why and we don't know from whom, but we do know he's abandoned his battered, blood-stained car in the middle of an isolated, lonely part of rural France at the height of a sweltering summer. Desperate to avoid the police, he takes to the parched fields and country lanes only to be caught in the vicious jaws of a trap. Near unconscious from pain and loss of blood, he is freed and taken in by two women - daughters of the owner of a rundown local farm with its ramshackle barn, blighted vineyard and the brooding lake. And it's then that Sean's problems really start... Superbly written, Stone Bruises is a classic nail-shredder of a thriller that holds you from the beginning. The narrative slowly, inexorably tightens its grip as the story unfurls and will keep you guessing until the unnerving and shocking final twist...

For two thousand years, wars have been fought, dynasties founded and great empires built on the message at the heart of Christianity - that Jesus Christ is the one true messiah. But in modern-day Jerusalem, archaeologist Jack Cane makes a shocking discovery. A discovery that not only threatens to destroy the charismatic new Pope, but one that could shatter two thousand years of faith and challenge the very foundations of the western world.

Funny, uplifting and magical - featuring a cast of strong female characters who teach the value of friendship and finding your true self. It's up to Yasmin to stop 'The Woman's Standard' magazine from imploding. And it's only her first week. Yasmin is woefully under-skilled at life. She still lives at home with her mother and annoying little sister, who both wish she'd just move out already. And her best friends - a scientist, a feminist and a spy - are actually 'fairy ghost-mothers,' whom only she can see. When she lands her dream job, thanks in part to a faked resume and stalking the limousine of the all-powerful magazine editor, her problems have just begun. She'll need to draw on the strengths of her beloved ghost-mothers to confront her lies and learn to tell the truth. The magazine, the company and the very existence of her ghostly friends are at stake? If you enjoy women's fiction with a historical nod and magical twist, you'll love this entertaining debut.

An inspiring collection of stories that demonstrate how a single act of kindness can change our lives, from the hit podcast Kind World On the Kind World program, hosts Andrea Asuaje and Yasmin Amer bring listeners deeply intimate stories and interviews that uplift the spirit and restore faith in humanity. And now, they've collected the show's best-loved stories—including "where are they now?" updates—as well as new ones, all of which serve to remind us that there is good in the world wherever we look. In the tradition of The Moth and Humans of New York, Kind World is the perfect feel-good gift for anyone who is looking to add a burst of positivity to their life.

They say Love conquers all, but does it really? Sometimes the mistakes of the past are too hard to forgive. Sometimes the truth is just too hard to accept and we must move on. In the sequel to You Call That Love, Yasmin is dealing with the aftermath of learning the truth behind her parents rejection. Hurt from years of lies, she tries to recover. Unsure of how to move on, she must decide if she can forgive and if she can re-build a relationship. Fortunately, she has Braxton. Braxton has been her rock. For the first time in her life, she is happy. He s been there with her through the good and bad, flaws and all. He loves her for her, not just for her hazel-green eyes. Braxton is the one who shows her love and the beauty she possesses. There is no doubt of his love. His love gives her the security she s always sought. However, Yasmin doesn t know everything, such as the real reason behind their previous breakup. Sadly, what was done in the dark has come to light and this truth, is too much for Yasmin to handle. Trust and love shattered, alone and broken, what is Yasmin to do? Can she love? Can she forgive? Yasmin is at her breaking point and yet another development arises. This one, changes everything and her decision is not so simple. Who will love her right?

Race and Multiculturalism in Malaysia and SingaporeRoutledge

Frantz Fanon and Emancipatory Social Theory: A View from the Wretched, is a collection of essays engaged in a future-oriented remembrance of the emancipatory work of one of the most influential revolutionary social theorists: Frantz Fanon.

Through the stories of Rosie and Lisa, this book will take you on a journey of the various stages of caregiving for seven of their parents, aunts and uncles. You will experience their fears, joys, frustrations and creativity on the rollercoaster ride of caregiving. The purpose of the book is to become your friend in solitude, your guide for the journey and your coach for planning as you travel the sometimes-bumpy road of caregiving. Rosie and Lisa's stories span the events that led them into becoming caregivers and continue through to the grieving process. They share their experiences about living arrangements, safety, independence, arguments, tough decisions, transitions, handling end of life issues and above all the wonderful memories they accumulated along the way. When you feel that no one understands, may you find comfort in the fact there are many others right there in your own neighborhood on the same journey as you. When the time is right, may you have the privilege of meeting your own Lisa or Rosie to help lighten your load. This is a book of caregiver stories: Stories that will make you cry, Stories that will bring you joy, Stories that will make you shed some tears, Stories that will soothe your fears. Stories that share your despair, Stories that help your relationships repair, Stories that fill you with love, Stories that help you evolve. May these stories offer you some solutions, as you bravely walk the lonely path of caregivers.

When the hot sun melts Yasmin's chocolate Tino Turtle it gives her an idea for a solar-powered special treat. The Gardeneers learn all about capturing energy to grow their seedlings. They build a mini-greenhouse and also learn that some energy sources are a little... stinkier! Will they get all their seedlings planted in time to melt up a s'mores feast? Is sugarcane mulch as tasty as it sounds? And what do you do when snake beans attack Find out all the answers in "The Sunshine S'mores!"

The new feel-good, funny serial from Sunday Times bestseller Cathy Bramley about one woman's search for happiness... It's all change again for Nina's Flowers, but Fearn's surprised at how excited she is for the future. Especially when a date with Sam might be on the cards. She needs to take one last risk and open her heart...but will the stars align for them both? And there's a new wedding keeping her busy: Laura and Hamish want to get married, and quick! Pulling in help from the Barnaby community, including her friends at The Lemon Tree Café, Fearne sets out to throw her friend the perfect wedding. But is it Fearne's turn for a happy ending? One year later, has Fearne's happiness list worked its magic? Join Fearne in her search to discover happiness on her own terms. My Kind of Happy is a joyful and funny novel told in four parts, also featuring some of your best-loved characters from Cathy's other bestselling stories set in Barnaby, such as The Lemon Tree Cafe and A Patchwork Family. This is the fourth part. * * * * * Praise for Cathy Bramley from some of your other favourite authors: 'A book full of warmth and kindness. I loved it' Sarah Morgan 'A warm hug of a book' Phillipa Ashley 'A gorgeously romantic comfort read' Rachael Lucas 'Delightful' Katie Fforde 'A page-turner of a story' Milly Johnson 'Delightfully warm with plenty of twists and turns' Trisha Ashley

How does a Latina, regardless of her age or circumstances, deal with grief, shame, guilt, and fear? Where does a Latina turn when she feels unsatisfied, even desperate, over her life choices and the influence her family and culture have over her? Who does she turn to? Yasmin Davidds, an extraordinary teacher, mentor, and devotee of her Latina sisters, has written The Latinas Seven Principles in order to teach Latinas to love themselves, to trust themselves, and to find the strength to make crucial life decisions. In this workbook, Yasmin reaches out to Latinas all over the world in an effort to promote strength, self-love, and individual power to the millions of women who are seeking emotional sustenance. The Latinas Seven Principles, a follow-up to Yasmin's best-selling Empowering Latinas, not only explains how and why Latinas have suffered emotional and personal crises, it offers powerful and life-enhancing exercises and stories, developed to help Latinas discover their true selves, and to embrace the power they possess, simply by existing. Women, regardless of their ethnicity or country of origin, will find life-changing, lifeenhancing words and lessons in this first-of-its-kind workbook. With Yasmin as a guide, women all over the world will find reassurance, guidance, strength, and the will to make themselves whole-and then will take their rightful place as leaders.: 1. Principle # 1: Taking Personal Responsibility For Your Life.2. Principle # 2: Knowing and Loving the Essence of Your True Self 3. Principle # 3: Seeing is Believing - Believe in Yourself 4. Principle # 4: Live In Truth - No More Secrets, No More Shame 5. Principle # 5: Guilt Is A Game.You Can Choose Not To Play 6. Principle # 6: "Respeto" - You Deserve It, Too 7. Principle # 7: Embrace Your Fears.They Will Lead You To Freedom For more information about the product log on to Hwww.yasmindavidds.com.

The school athletics carnival is coming and the Gardeneers are excited - well, most of them. Chloe worries she's too slow to ever win a gold medal. And Yasmin's impatience leads her to try to find some shortcuts. Is Chloe destined to compete on team snail forever? Or will she find a way to cross the finish line first? And could a special plum juice really be the secret to super speed Find out all the answers in "The Snail Races!"

When a beekeeper comes to visit Mulberry Street School the Gardeneers start noticing lots of patterns. Hexagons, spirals, circles, - it seems like patterns are everywhere from nature, to maths, to art! But what kinds of patterns do bees look for when choosing a hotel to stay in? Why are they called social butterflies if they like to live alone? And will Mr Barbossa ever get to wear his cool beekeeper hat Find out all the answers in "The Queen Bee!"

There's a special day coming up at Mulberry Street School - Myrtle's Birthday! When The Gardeneers learn about how much trash is polluting the oceans they decide to throw her a "zero-waste party" - starting with decorations made from rubbish! What will Chloe make from Tino Turtle wrappers? What are those strange shiny objects in the music room? And why will everyone be clutching their stomachs before the cake is even served Find out all the answers in "The Trashy Birthday!"

Do you need help dealing with your child's tantrums, inappropriate behavior or communication issues? Then this is the book you've been waiting for. Based on the principles of the Miller Method, this book is filled with effective tips for solving behavioral issues promptly in day-to-day situations. Miller's insights, compiled here and expanded upon by Theresa Smith, are based on an understanding of the cognitive and sensory needs of children with autism and how this can underlie certain disordered behaviors. This practical how-to guide will help you to identify causes of distress, foster friendships, increase focus, toilet train, stop tantrums and handle inappropriate conduct. This will provide essential daily support to parents, families, carers and teachers of pre-adolescent children on the autism spectrum. The book is targeted toward the most affected ASD children.

Are we slaves to destiny or architects of our own fate? Bearings is about challenging the course of our lives as well as keeping a foothold during unpredictable times. In this affecting novella and collection of stories, Leah Swann burrows deep into the souls of her characters to reveal universal complexities, frailties and strengths. From searching for love to coping with grief, Bearings provides a map of the human condition, deftly drawn by an exciting new Australian talent with a sharp eye for instinctive behaviours and emotional truths.

Freelance journalist Cara Kerr is in the midst of the great Australian rite of passage known as A-Few-Years-in-London when she accepts an assignment to ghost-write the autobiography of a prominent mystic guru Gaelle Carrington-Keane. Gaelle's revelations change not only Cara's life but those of her Battersea flatmates as well - slick TV producer Moni and ethereal graphic designer Lucy. Soon, all three girls discover that the journey to inner peace requires more than just meditation, mantras and monster spliffs. And the last thing Cara expects to find along the way is love

Islam is a religion but there are also popular cultures of Islam that are mass mediated, commercialized, pleasure-filled, humorous, and representative of large segments of society. This book illuminates how Muslims (and non-Muslims) in Indonesia and Malaysia make sense of their lives within an increasingly pervasive, popular culture of Islamic images, texts, film, songs, and narratives. Saman is a story filtered through the lives of its feisty female protagonists and the enigmatic "hero" Saman. It is at once an expose of the oppression of plantation workers in South Sumatra, a lyrical quest to understand the place of religion and spirituality in contemporary lives, a playful exploration of female sexuality and a story about love in all its guises, while touching on all of Indonesia's taboos: extramarital sex, political repression and the relationship between Christians and Muslims. Saman has taken the Indonesian literary world by storm and sold over 100,000 copies in the Indonesian language, and is now available for the first time in English. ABOUT THE AUTHOR Ayu Utami was born in Bogor, grew up in Jakarta and obtained her bachelor degree in Literature Studies from University of Indonesia. She worked as a journalist for Matra, Forum Keadilan, and D&R. Not long after the

New Order regime closed Tempo, Editor, and Detik, she participated in the founding of Indonesia's Alliance of Independent Journalists to protest the closure of those three weeklys. Currently she is working for the cultural journal Kalam, and at Teater Utan Kayu. Saman was awarded the Prince Claus Award in the year 2000."

Malenie found the perfect place to hide from the world. No one else sees the endless Wall that stretches across the desert, and when Melanie is in the shadow of its magic, she becomes invisible. Bullies can't torment her. Her ex-best friend can't ignore her. And her beloved Papa doesn't worry about the secret that puts her life in danger... When a stranger comes to town and abducts Papa, Malenie is thrust into a dangerous quest to save him. She learns that the Wall holds secrets that will bring her in touch with her ancestral magic, bind her to new friends and old enemies, and force her to confront a deadly villain. To save Papa, she will have to learn to use the mysterious magic that is inscribed on her very skin. The Desert Wall is the first book in a new series about friendship, families and magic.

The Gardeneers want to raise money to buy more seedlings for their garden which has begun producing lots of veggies - so they decide to set up their own pizza shop! Luckily their teacher has the perfect sauce recipe, passed all the way down from Grandma Barbossa. Will Mr Barbossa's cooking skills make his granny proud? Or will an oregano spill ruin it all? And who thought zucchini-flavoured ice cream was a good idea Find out all the answers in "The Pizza Geniuses!"

he image you see is not always as it seems.... Hazel-green eyed Yasmin Sinclair is a beautiful woman. She is admired by many, but her parents' constant criticism has her feeling vulnerable. Yasmin has had enough. She finally decides not to focus on her parents' rejection and to live her life. When she does, she meets Braxton Simms, a playboy for life. This erotic union has him ready to change. Yasmin gains her confidence. Life is good. However, in life things happen and it sends Yasmin spiraling and her new found confidence is gone. Come take this journey with Yasmin as she finds real love and the truth regarding her parents' rejection is revealed.

Copyright: e49833aefb871629e0f2f05c8ec03430